

YOUR CAREER IN FILM + TV

INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

Film and television production is one of Oklahoma's leading industries contributing to both its current cultural renaissance as well as the creation of jobs and economic development across its statewide communities. Nearly 40 film and television projects utilized the Oklahoma Film Enhancement Rebate Program last year, contributing over 4,200 jobs and making it one of the busiest years in Oklahoma's film industry.

READY TO ROLL: INFRASTRUCTURE

Oklahoma's central location and low costs for living and business makes the state a formidable partner for the film and television industry. Paired with growing partnerships between business, government and civic leaders, new businesses continue to locally establish themselves while existing companies expand their inventory to meet the evolving needs of our industry.

INCENTIVE + RELIABILITY

In an industry that relies on the dependability of state government and local support to establish its business, Oklahoma has proven its steadfast commitment to film and television. The Oklahoma Film Enhancement Rebate Program remains one of the strongest competitive film programs in the nation, and is the foundation for both the current and future development of the state's film, television and music industries.

CAMERA READY WORKFORCE

Oklahoma's skilled, talented workforce is essential in supporting the state's film and television industry. It takes a village to make a movie, and job opportunities extend far beyond what is seen on-screen with nearly every imaginable trade playing a pivotal role in this industry. See page two of this document for an extended list of job opportunities!

EDUCATION + RECRUITMENT

You can turn your hobby or profession into a sustainable career in the Oklahoma film industry where there's a place for everyone! For some, on-set experience can be the best form of education while others may prefer the film education programs available through Oklahoma's wide variety of esteemed universities, colleges, trade-schools and more. Additional resources for education exist within the local film festival circuit and other film focused groups and organizations who annually offer educational classes, panels, workshops and more, including many of the Oklahoma Film + Music Office's own events.
